ROBBED ON HONEYMOON AND THEN ARRESTED

Denver Bridegroom Loses $600 on Train and Is Jailed for Hotel Bill.

After hearing the troubles of Philip F. Gallick, a bridegroom from Denver, Magistrate Marsh in the West Side Court paroled him yesterday on a charge of defrauding the Hotel Astor of a week's board and lodging for himself and his wife.

Gallick explained that he was robbed on the train, hearing this city Nov. 16, of a bag containing $600, all he had. He went to the Astor in the belief that the railroad detectives knew what they were talking about when they promised a speedy recovery of his money. At the end of a week, owing $78 and without answers to telegrams sent to Denver for aid, he and his wife left the Astor. He met one of the hotel managers two days ago and promised to pay as soon as he could. He was told to return to the hotel and not to worry. But on his arrival he was locked in a room for twenty-four hours, he said. He gave up two return tickets to Denver worth $48; then he was arrested.

A PROVERB SUSPENDED.

Noted Play Revived For The Aid of War Victims

"The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," with Mrs. Campbell in Role She Created, At Wallack's.

"The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" will be revived at Wallack's Theatre Sunday night for the benefit of the Committee of Mercy, an organization headed by Elihu Root as President and August Belmont as Treasurer, which has already been working wonders in the field of practical charity and made its first practical contribution this week by shipping $10,000 worth of flour to the needy widows and orphans in Belgium.

Great interest is being taken in the success of the benefit by Mrs. Norman Hapgood, President of the Stage Society, which has organized the production, in connection with the Committee of Mercy.

A tremendous interest will centre in the performance of the role of Paula Tanqueray by Mrs. Patrick Campbell. It was she who created the role at the London premiere of the play in the Summer of 1892. Miss Edith Wynne Mathison will be seen as Mrs. Cortelyou. And the others in the cast will be: Aubrey Smith as Aubrey Tanqueray, Miss Jane Cooper as Eileen, Kenneth Douglas as Cayle Drummond, Graham Brown as Sir George Orrey, Phillip Merivale as Capt. Hugh Ardale, Cyril Keithly as Frank Mitquith and Richard Hatteras as Gordon Jayne. The seats for the benefit Sunday night are on sale at the box office only.

"PAINTER" LIFTED JEWELS.

Came to Paint Roof, but Mrs. Nash Found Him in Bedroom.

"The painter has come," announced the maid of Mr. and Mrs. J. Burnett Nash of No. 125 West Ninety-third Street as the couple sat at the breakfast table to-day. Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Nash had ordered any painter, so Mrs. Nash went upstairs to see the man who had told the maid that he had come to paint the roof.

There was the man in one of the bedrooms with a paintbrush and a pot of red paint. The lady made a mental inventory of the articles which should be on her dresser. She missed a gold watch and chain valued at $250, a gold bracelet and sundry toilet articles. She called her husband and her husband called the police.

Policeman Dowling found the missing articles on the "painter." At the West One Hundredth Street Police Station the latter said he was William Murray of No. 1011 Second Avenue. He was taken to Police Headquarters.

OSSIFIED WOMAN HELPLESS FOR YEARS

Her Limbs Are Like Stone and Her Speech Affected, but Mind Is Clear—No Cure for Her.

MERIDEN, Conn., Dec. 4.—With her legs four inches above her knees as rigid and hard as stone, and her hands and arms slowly developing the same rigidity, Mrs. William J. Fredericks, fifty years old, passed to-day into the fourth year of helplessness from a disease that has completely baffled the specialists. Several physicians who have examined Mrs. Fredericks diagnosed the case as petrification or ossification of her limbs. The legs are dry and shrunken. There is no flesh on them except a shriveled and hard brownish substance in which there is no feeling. They are bent slightly at the knee and have been in this condition for over a year. The hands and arms are not so hard, but there is no sense of touch in them. They have lain folded across the woman's breast for ten months.

Mrs. Fredericks's mind is unusually clear and active. She can only express herself by guttural mutterings, however, the disease having shown signs in the last few weeks of attacking her vocal organs. Dr. E. C. Bradstreet, her physician, says her case is without hope. She can only eat gruels and soft foods.

Mrs. Fredericks was stricken with acute indigestion in 1909 and has been bedridden since. Some specialists who have examined her say the hardening of the limbs can be traced to rheumatism, followed by paralysis. The woman's husband is a small store merchant, but before his wife's illness was well to do.

Coffee and the Cop

A booklet, "How to Keep Well," prepared under the eye of the Police Surgeon and the Health Commissioner, and distributed to the New York Policemen—the finest force extant—among other suggestions, says:

"Strong Coffee and Tea are Always Harmful"

Coffee and tea both contain the drugs, caffeine and tannin, which often cause headache, biliousness, heart flutter, sleeplessness, and other ills.

New York Doesn't Want Nervous, Debilitated Policemen

If you value your own health and power to "do things," suppose you quit tea and coffee, and try the famous pure food-drink

POSTUM

Made only of prime wheat and a bit of wholesome molasses, Postum is free from drugs, or any harmful substance.

There's fine flavour, genuine nourishment and health in a steaming cup of well-made Postum.
